Area Sports Official Arrested by FBI

Charged with Conspiracy in $50,000 Swindle

'Rocky' Rothschild Said Involved in Sale of $1,000 Bills

A football and basketball official well-known in southern Illinois sports circles today was free under $25,000 bond on a federal conspiracy charge involving a money swindle.

Arrested Friday night was Charles Paul Rothschild, 30, of Mound City, better known to thousands of prep football and basketball fans as "Rocky" Rothschild. Rothschild has officiated at a large number of football and basketball games here. He was one of the officials at the Egyptian Holiday cage tourney held in Davenport gym last December.

He was arrested during the half-time intermission of the football game between Cairo and Caruthersville, Mo., at Cairo. Agents from the Federal Bureau of Investigation made the arrest on a charge that he conspired in a $50,000 swindle involving the sale of $1,000 bills at $600 each.

W. H. Williams, special FBI agent in charge of the Springfield district, said the conspiracy hinged on the sale of the money to Robert and Kenneth Close of Toledo, Ohio, last July 28.

Three Others Seized
Williams said the transaction ostensibly was to avoid Internal Revenue Service inquiry into possession of the $1,000 bills.

Rothschild, a former policeman at Cairo who had been living in a trailer at Mound City, was taken before U. S. Commissioner James E. Cluts at Cairo where his bond was set at $25,000. He was then taken to Murphysboro where he was held on the federal warrant charging him with fraud by use of interstate wire and conspiracy.

At Louisville, Ky., FBI headquarters, it was stated that Rothschild was the last of four men seized in the case.

The FBI said Clennie Joe Buchanan, Jackson, Miss., and two other men were arrested earlier on swindle charges. The alleged swindle involved an offer by the Close brothers to sell the Close brothers $1,000 bills for $600 each.

The FBI said the swindlers told the Close brothers they were selling the bills at less than value to escape Internal Revenue inquiry into the source of the bills.

The Close brothers said they were swindled at the London, Ky., airport last July 28 after flying there to meet the swindlers with $50,000 cash. They previously had been contacted personally and by phone in Toledo by the swindlers.

Rothschild was arrested on a warrant issued Nov. 3 by the U. S. commissioner at Lexington, Ky.

Rothschild was carrying a revolver when arrested but made no attempt to use it, the FBI said. He is married and has one child.

H. O. Buell, 65, Local Bank Official, Dies

Vice President, Cashier of Harrisburg National Bank

Henry O. Buell, Harrisburg bank official, died suddenly last night.

Mr. Buell, vice president and cashier of the Harrisburg National bank, collapsed and died in a bedroom at his home before medical aid arrived.

Death presumably was from a heart attack. The 65-year-old banker, however, had been in apparent good health until the time of the attack at 10:45 p. m. He died in a matter of minutes.

His body was moved to the Gaskins funeral home and later returned to the residence.

Mr. Buell worked Saturday and part of the evening at the bank, and Sunday morning attended services at the Methodist church. During the afternoon he and Mrs. Buell took a long drive through scenic areas of southern Illinois.

Planned Trip
After supper they listened to the Methodist services on the radio and other programs, then were in the bedroom discussing a trip to Evansville they were planning for tomorrow when he slumped from a stool and died shortly after he was placed on the bed by a neighbor.

Mr. Buell had been connected with banking in Harrisburg since 1914. He was the son of the late H. H. and Augusta Buell and was reared on a farm near Ashley, Ill. He taught in country schools in that area for a few years. Then he went to work for a bank at Carmi, coming here as a bookkeeper for the old Saline Trust and Savings bank. He was its cashier when it consolidated with the Harrisburg State Savings bank in 1922 and in the new First Trust and Savings bank, the name of the bank resulting from the merger, he became cashier. He continued with this bank the rest of his life, continuing as cashier when it converted from a state to a national bank and changed its name to the Harrisburg National bank in 1938.

Mr. Buell's survivors include his wife, the former Edna Peck, whom he married in 1914; a son, Charles, of Baltimore, Maryland; a daughter, Elizabeth, whose husband, Donald L. Johnson, is with the Soil Conservation Service at Mt. Vernon, Ill.; three sisters, Misses Hertha, Kitty and Clara Buell of St. Louis; and six grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

He had been a stockholder, officer and director of the bank for many years and around the first of July of this year was made vice president, continuing in his capacity as cashier.

Dulles, Tito Call for Free Red Satellites

Joint Statement After Meeting May Anger Kremlin

GENEVA — A joint declaration by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia that the Soviet Satellites should be freed may anger the Kremlin, it was believed today.

Dulles flew to Yugoslavia and conferred with the Yugoslav president for seven hours on the Adriatic island of Brioni. They issued a "common accord" calling for independence for the satellite countries.

Diplomatic observers here said Tito's main idea was believed to be to have Communist states independent from Russia—as is Yugoslavia. However neither defined the meaning of the word "independent" and neither went into specific detail.

Look For Soviet Anger
But his statement came on the eve of the October Revolution which first brought Communism to Russia and was expected to cause anger in the Soviet Union. Informal sources said the Soviet Union always denied Russia was "boss" of the satellites and would find itself in a difficult position because of Tito's demands.

There was no indication whether the statement would have any effect on the Big Four conference here.

Though Dulles brought back an accord on the satellites, he apparently failed to win the backing of Tito for Western plans to reunify Germany.

Dulles said the views he got from Tito on the linked problems of European security and Germany must remain secret, but he failed to mention German unity. Tito told questioning newsmen later they agreed the German question must be settled, but when asked how he replied, "That's another question."

Reach Accord On Satellites
Dulles said the two men were of common accord on the importance of the independence of the East European states. Non-interference in their own internal affairs and their right to choose their own social and economic system.

Vice President Edward Kardelj told newsmen the talks took place in a "very friendly" atmosphere and that the Yugoslavs were "very satisfied." He called the talks a contribution to international peace.

Ford to Sell 60 Per Cent of Voting Stock in Giant Auto Firm

Action in January Will End 51 Years of Strict Family Control

NEW YORK (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. made plans today for the first public sale of more than one billion dollars worth of common stock in the family-owned automobile empire.

The Ford Foundation, which owns 83 per cent of the company's securities, announced it will put 6,952,293 Ford shares on public sale in January.

Sixty per cent of Ford's voting stock would be sold to public investors. The 40 per cent retained by the family still will give them "working control" of the company. Many huge U. S. corporations are controlled by a considerably smaller percentage of voting stock.

The announcement was hailed as "a landmark in the history of public ownership" by Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange. It was the first time the investing public was offered a voting share in the company since the family gained exclusive control in 1919.

Slain Woodward Leaves Estate To Wife, Sons

NEW YORK (AP)—The executors of the $10,000,000 estate of turman William Woodward Jr. postponed today the filing of his will for probate "out of courtesy" to the ailing wife who shot him.

Theodore J. Miller, attorney for the estate, said the 1948 will will not be filed for probate until Woodward's widow is "feeling better."

Mrs. Woodward, who shot her socialite husband when she mistook him for a prowler, will inherit the first $10,000 and one third of the estate under New York law. The remainder, presumably, will go to their two sons, William III, 11, and James, 7.

A new grand jury panel will be sworn in on Wednesday and will hear the case, which rocked international society, when Mrs. Woodward's physicians say she is well enough to testify.

Mrs. Woodward, a patient at Doctors Hospital since the fatal shooting in their Oyster Bay home eight days ago, does not know the shooting will go before a Nassau County grand jury. Her physician reported Sunday she has not even engaged a lawyer "because she actually feels she does not need a lawyer."

Dr. John M. Prutting, her physician, said Mrs. Woodward, obeying his orders, has not read any newspapers since her admission to the hospital.

Meanwhile, a private investigator was retained by the family. Chief Inspector Stuyvesant Pinnell, of Nassau County, confirmed that Mrs. Woodward had taken a new drug to alleviate stomach cramps before she retired on the night of the shooting.

Medical authorities point out that the drug, thozazine, has widely different effects, even on the same person. Police speculated as to whether the drug could have confused state of mind when she shot at what she thought was a prowler.

The high tribunal also invalidated a section of the 1950 Military Code of Justice that allows the armed forces to arrest and try a veteran after his discharge to civilian life for a serious crime committed while serving in uniform overseas.

In still another major action, the court refused to review a lower court's ruling that it is unconstitutional for the government to bar
members of alleged subversive groups from federal low rent housing projects.

The court made its segregation rulings in two brief orders. There were no written opinions, but both actions evidently were based on the same reasoning as the tribu-nal's historic decision last year banning segregation in public schools.
In one of today's cases, the justices affirmed a ruling by the 4th
U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals last March, outlawing separation of whites and Negroes in public parks and swimming pools operated by the state of Maryland and the city of Baltimore.

Disclose Two Americans Held as Spies in E. Germany

GENEVA (AP) — Two Americans are being held as alleged "spies"
in Communist East Germany's grim Waldheim Prison, a former fellow prisoner disclosed today.
Oscar Stuchlik, one of Waldheim's 1,700 inmates for five years
himself, said the two Americans were serving three-year jail terms each.

He gave their names as Sgt. Bill Smallwood, Beattyville, Ky., and Nick Craemer, a chemist, born
Feb. 2, 1929, in Philadelphia.

U. S. Army headquarters at Heidelberg in West Germany confirmed that Smallwood was being missing and listed as absent without leave since May 23, 1954. He was with Company B of the 14th Armored Cavalry.

U. S. Army authorities had no record of Craemer, an American civilian.

Freights Collide Near Goreville

GOREVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Work
crews of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad today cleared up minor wreckage left from a rear-end collision between two freight trains near here Saturday.

Three trainmen escaped injury
when a Chicago, Burlington and Quincy train ran into the rear-end of the C&E train. Conductor Del Featherling of the C&E train jumped from the caboose when he saw the Burlington train approaching.

Three diesel locomotive units of the Burlington train were derailed in the collision and crews put them back on the track Sunday morning.
One freight car and the caboose of the C&E train were damaged and derailed.

File Murder Charges In Indiana Shooting

PRINCETON, Ind. (AP) — First degree murder charges were filed Saturday against Lawrence Bryant, 57, Palestine, Ill., railroad-man, in the rooming house shooting deaths of his estranged wife and her aunt.

Mrs. Ethel Bryant, 49, Princeton, and her aunt, Mrs. Ella Cox, 65, East St. Louis, Ill., were slain Friday and Floyd Dillard, 46, who tried to stop the killing, was wounded critically.

A Gibson county grand jury will meet this week to study an indictment against Bryant.

The Army will spend about $4-000,000 on the new Federal employees Group Life Insurance program in fiscal 1955.

A Relaxed World

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Democrats Hustle For Presidency; Republicans Await Word From Ike; Russians
Will Have Difficulty Reversing
Their Peace Propaganda.

WASHINGTON — There are some interesting contracts in the backstage maneuvering of both political parties for the great grand national of 1956.

Among Republicans the maneuvering is sotto voce, waiting for word from the man in Denver.
The hustle and bustle of those strenuous competitive days when Bob Taft and Tom Dewey were bidding frantically for delegates is gone. Over the Republican party has descended the quiet suspense
similar to that which the Democrats felt during the Roosevelt administration when the party was dominated by one man and the leaders awaited the word from him.

Most realistic Republicans fully expect the word from Gettysburg
in January will be "no," but there isn't much they can do until the word comes. Some of the palace guard, however, are still determined that the President run again,
no matter what, and want to backstop him with Tom Dewey as vice president.

Only important maneuvering
other than this is by the Nixon forces which have finally shut up the vice president's chief GOP opponent, Gov. Goody Knight; and by the Dewey forces which are setting up some quiet but powerful road-blocks to stop the young man whom Dewey helped put in the vice presidency in 1952.

The Deweyites turned sour on Nixon shortly after the 18,000 expense fund was revealed, and the position mounted as Nixon became Joe McCarthy's chief ambassador at the White House.

Maneuvering in the Democratic camp today is just the opposite.
Big political goals are at stake and the bidding will be terrific.

In the Stevenson camp, Adlai has already picked his chief brain-trustee, Harry Ashmore, able editor of the Little Rock Gazette; is also lining up committees in California, Minnesota, Wisconsin. Organization for Adlai, completely neglected in 1952, this time won't go by default. Main objective of Stevenson leaders is to sew up key leaders in key states before Kefauver or Harriman get to them first.

Sun-Times Says State Police Solicited Funds for Safety Film

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago
Sun-Times says state police solicited $67,942 from private businesses to finance two safety film contracts between the state and a Texas promoter who has a criminal record.

The Sun-Times today said State Police Supt. Phil M. Brown relieved three safety sergeants of their regular duties and ordered them to help ex-convict Roy S.
Sims, Dallas, Tex., solicit funds
for one of the films.

The newspaper said in its Sunday edition that the contracts between the state and Sims were approved by Gov. William G.
Stratton and Safety Director Joseph
D. Bibb.

It said the contracts called for the production of two 18-minute traffic safety films for state police by Sims, who has a record of armed robbery and larceny.

Sims now is head of Public Safety Pictures Inc., a "family corporation," the paper said.

Today's Sun-Times said the three sergeants assigned to aid Sims were supposed to accompany him
as he "hoisted around the state seeking cash contributions from private business firms."

"But the three sergeants and other officers as well wound up doing the promoter's work for him after he went back to Dallas," the paper said.

The Kefauver camp is less organized. The Tennesseean has always run his own show. Today he sits in stocking feet, listening to advisers tell him what he should do, and how to do it. Then he goes ahead and does what he wants.

The boys have been wanting Estes to announce and begin lining up delegates. But Estes wants to wait. He argues that he has some important hearings on Dixon-Yates and juvenile delinquents.
If he announces early, then presidential politics will get mixed up in the hearings.

Besides, he's got some money to raise. "The last time we ran," he told a friend, "we got into town and put Nancy outside the hotel to raise enough money to leave town. Somehow we've got to do better than that."

Meanwhile, Stevenson forces are dangling enticing offers in front of the long-legged Tennesseean to become Adlai's vice president. It would be a strong ticket; for both men are appealing campaigners.
But so far Kefauver hasn't bought, and his best friends say he won't.

In the third Democratic camp,
Governor Harriman of New York is handicapped by the fact that officially he's still for Stevenson. So he can't very well go out and beat the bushes for delegates. However, his chief political mentor, astute Tammany leader Carmine De Sapio, is doing a lot of it for
him.

So far the Democratic maneuvering has been kept on a friendly even keel, but Democrats have the reputation of being free-thinkers and free-sluggers when the competition gets really keen.

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES
Frankie Costello, former underworld czar, is trying hard to convince authorities he has turned over a new leaf. He spends most of his time raising money for charity. Already this year, he has collected more than $250,000 for various causes.

Costello is waiting for the Supreme Court to review his tax-evasion conviction.
The high court agreed to consider the case on the grounds his constitutional rights may have been infringed. (Moscow, take note: Even racketeers are entitled to full protection of the law in this country.)

President Eisenhower has been deluged with invitations from winter resorts, urging him to come to Florida, California

"This included calling on business firms, making the promotional 'pitch' for the film and asking each firm to contribute in the name of the Illinois state police."

The Sun-Times said the three sergeants assigned to the special duty were E. F. McGraw of District 6, Pontiac; Walter H. Reeser of District 10, Campaign, and Richard Massa of District 4, Chicago.

Secretary of State Dulles is con-

counteract the forthcoming goodwill visit by Russian leaders. He's been to almost every other country in the world, so why neglect Afghanistan — especially since they now have an arms deal pending with Czechoslovakia.

INSIDE ON SOVIETS

The U. S. ambassador to Russia,
"Chip" Bohlen, was "hiding out"
at the State Department for some days before the Geneva conference, secretly preparing Secretary of State Dulles for Geneva. He advised Dulles that the Soviet leaders are so far committed to the new goodwill policy that they cannot turn back.

Bohlen also warned that our defense treaty with Iran was just as much a blow to the Kremlin as the Czechoslovakian arms deal with Egypt. He also told Dulles not to expect Russia to give up its diplomatic offensive in the Near East unless we cancel our alliance with Iran.

Pointing to the fact that the Kremlin humiliated Foreign Minister Molotov on the eve of the Geneva meeting, Bohlen said this was a sign of continuing rivalry inside the Kremlin. He predicted that Russia would not return to a one-man dictatorship but would continue under committee rule.

Death on Track Ends Racing Career Of Jack McGrath

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Veteran
racing driver Jack McGrath, making what he announced would be his last appearance on a dirt track, was killed Sunday when his car flipped four times near the end of the Bobby Ball Memorial 100-mile event.

Death ended the 35-year-old Los Angeles driver's career on the 87th lap of the race. McGrath, who finished third in two Indianapolis 500-mile big car races, was killed instantly when his canary yellow auto flipped as he was about a mile behind Jimmy Bryan,
the winner of the Ball race.

It was the last race held under the sanction of the American Automobile Association which announced earlier this year that it was withdrawing completely from racing. J. Gordon Betz, chief steward for the AAA, said a special investigator had been assigned to seek the cause of the fatal accident.

McGrath had told friends that he would restrict future racing activities to the Indianapolis event,
where he had established track records for one and three laps. His wife, Caroline, did not accompany him to Phoenix for the race. She was expected to come here today to arrange for return of McGrath's body to Los Angeles.

Storm Leaves 16 Persons Dead In New England

By United Press
A northeast storm drove out to sea
today, leaving at least 16 persons dead in New England, and cold weather gripped the nation's midsection.

The weekend storm in the Northeast was blamed for 13 highway deaths, 2 drownings, and 1 accidental electrocution. In addition, 4 men were presumed drowned
when their Air Force C47 transport crashed into the swollen Connecticut River at Holyoke, Mass.

New England was soaked by up to four inches of rain, causing minor flooding in parts of Connecticut, and from three to four inches of snow.

The midwestern cold, meanwhile, was pushing toward the Ap-palachians.

Whispering

XIX
Goncalves, the sailor on guard, let Dibble by with a murmured greeting. When he realized Lynch and I were at his heels he fell back as if he had seen ghosts. At Lynch's cheery: "Good evening, Goncalves!" the poor man almost dropped his gun. Visions of dressings-down and condign punishment were whirling through his mind. I had a notion that discipline under Carey must be much the same order as aboard the Bounty under Captain Bligh.

Then out of the surrounding darkness leapt the moon-like face of Viggo Sand. "Good evening, gentlemen."

Lynch talked fast. "Good evening, sir," he said briskly and rather loudly. "Mr. Deane was just saying we must be sure to put in a word for Goncalves here. He carried out his orders. Most correctly. He told us your instructions were that no one was to go ashore. He did not let us pass. We went by other means. We knew, of course, that those orders did not apply to us. You heard the shots from the fortress just now? They were fired at us from ambush. Misses, happily, all of them. By someone from the ship."

Lynch was a marvel. Here was Reginald Dibble, Sand's own confidential secretary, listening to that outrageous lie. And not interrupting. But what reason, I wondered, had Lynch for thinking that Dibble would not set Sand straight the moment they were alone?

Two possibilities occurred to me. The first was that Lynch might guess Dibble would find the truth—that he had tamely handed his gun over and let him bang away with it—embarrassing.

Sand's reply was a long time in coming. He was breathing deeply. "I must admire your zeal, Mr. Lynch. But I do not like you."

"Your personal feeling toward me, sir," said Lynch with even more than his usual briskness, "is immaterial. You have employed Mr. Deane and myself to do a job. We propose to do it. Preferably, with your help. Now, this bridge game. How long did you play?"

Sand's respiration was clearly audible. You could have counted up to 10.

"It may be I was mistaken. It may be that you amuse me. I will answer your questions. It was only for a little time. While we were playing the second hand Mr. Souhani complained he had a most violent pain"—Sand touched his own forehead—"between his eyes. He went to his cabin. Soon also, Herr Braun."

"I suppose, sir, you didn't check on them?"

"Correct."

"A pity. And your own movements, Mr. Sand?"

"You amuse me very much," Sand's chuckle came again. "This time it sounded more genuine. And Viggo Sand walked softly away from us down the deck and disappeared into the darkness."

When he was safely out of earshot I heard Dibble let out his breath. It was as if he had been holding it for a long, long time.

"You also, Mr. Lynch," he said in a low voice, "have a taste for living dangerously."

I went in search of Lily Wyndham. I had decided not to mention to Lynch that I had briefed Lily on almost everything we knew. I was not sure Lynch would approve. Yet I was sure I had been right. Or, I hoped so.

She was still with the same large book in the same large chair in the lounge where I had last seen her.

"When I think," she said, "of the millions of girls who must envy this brilliant life I told her. Do you think if I jumped overboard anybody would pay any attention to me?"

"It would depend of course," I said judiciously, "on where you did it."

"I'll make a note of it. Only in shallow water and on the nicest sort of day." Lily eyed my gray pullover and mud-stained sneakers. "What have you been up to?"

With exaggerated furtiveness I made sure there was no one within hearing. Then I told her.

"You really mean, then, all that money may be real?"

"It's extremely likely."

"And the reason you are telling me all this, Robert," Lily purred seductively, "is that your plan is for you and me to steal it?"

Only Fraction Of People Wear CD 'Dog Tags'

NEW YORK (AP) — More than four million Americans — mostly children — have acquired disaster identification "dog tags" in the last four years, but civil defense authorities aren't very pleased.

The number of tags issued is a woefully small fraction of the U. S. population.

Most of the people who do obtain them usually forget to wear them afterwards.

Lots of boys and girls are wearing each other's tag as an expression of puppy love.

United Press surveyed cities in more than a dozen states where civil defense organizations have undertaken systematic distribution of metal tags bearing a person's name, address, religious preference and a relative or friend to identify in case of death or injury.

Only 10 Per Cent

There were some expressions of satisfaction over the success of the programs. But these were rare. In most cases, CD leaders admitted the public was apathetic.

Cleveland began issuing the tags to school children in 1953, handed out more than 200,000 of them, and then gave up. A surprise check had disclosed that only 10 per cent of the kids were wearing them.

"We just figured there was too much public apathy and gave up the whole idea," said Cleveland civil defense director John Pokorny. "I think most of the fault lies with the parents—they don't like the idea of their children wearing them."

New York City has issued two million tags to school children since 1951 but admits many youngsters have lost them or leave them at home. The city of eight million population just began a campaign to tag adults, too, but in the first 10 days got only 8,000 requests.

Neck Or Arm

The stainless steel tags are issued free to children in some communities and offered for sale in others at a cost of 20 or 25 cents. The Pet Milk Co. of St. Louis, Mo., in a public service venture aimed at nationwide tagging, says it has distributed about one million tags at 25 cents each but plans to end its offer Dec. 31.

There are two schools of thought on whether the tags should be worn as bracelets or around the neck. Indiana chose neck chains on the grimy practical theory that in an explosion you are more likely to have an arm blown off than your head.

People who don't like having a chain around their neck are urged at least to wear the tags on watch fobs or key chains. A woman asked New York civil defense director Robert E. Condon if she was expected to wear her tag on a chain with a low-cut evening gown.

"No," said Condon, "but you should carry it in your purse and put it on if anything happens."

"Certainly not. In the first place, I don't know where it is. In the second place, the doggone stuff weighs two tons."

"Your righteousness is now explained. What then?"

"I have an errand for you. Your boy friend Siegfried is pretty well bungled up. I thought out of your womanly tenderness, you ought to go and find out how he's getting on. If he was really whanged on the head as hard as he seemed to be he might even be addled enough to tell you what it's all about."

Lily purposely stood up. "You'll hang around outside? If that storm-trooper so much as lays a hand on me I'll tell some men I know in London to bomb Berlin again."

It has been insufficiently remarked in contemporary literature that most modern doors have no key-holes. I found this one hadn't. Siggy's cabin had a lock, yes. But it was of the cylindrical type which opened with a thin key. I could neither see nor hear through it. And the door was thick. By plastering my head close against it all I could distinguish were two voices. But I knew in the first place Meer and Lily were in there. I couldn't make out a word they said.

De Kalb Runner Wins Cross Country Championship Event

URBANA, Ill. (U.P.)—Jimmy Bower, De Kalb's crack distance runner, Saturday won the 10th annual Illinois High School Assn. championship cross country event at the Urbana Country Club.

Bower's time was 9 minutes, 15.2 seconds. He was ahead of last year's winner, Fred Sandoval, East Moline, by 20 yards. Kenny Brown of Elgin was third.

Lyons Township High School won the low point score with 95 points. Englewood was second with 122 points and Urbana third with 139 points.

The cross country run was made on a new 1.9 mile course, changed from last year's layout.

Oklahoma, Maryland Top Unbeaten Teams as Illini Stun Michigan, 25 to 6

By United Press
Michigan's jarring upset by old nemesis Illinois left Oklahoma and Maryland as the top unbeaten contenders for the national college football crown today—and also left promoters of the Orange Bowl chortling with glee.

For Oklahoma and Maryland seem certain to finish the season unbeaten and the resulting bids to the Orange extravaganza at Miami, Fla., could make that game not only the top bowl but also the "game of the year."

Oklahoma rolled to its 26th straight victory, 20-0, over Missouri and Maryland retained its perfect record by fighting off Louisiana State, 13-0. West Virginia, the only other major unbeaten team, kept pace with the Sooners and Terps by beating George Washington, 13-7, on Friday to clinch the Southern Conference crown.

Bowl Picture Clouded
But mighty Michigan absorbed a stunning 25-6 drubbing from Illinois. Michigan entered the game a 13-point choice but the Illini turned loose a 20-year-old sophomore named Bob Mitchell for 173 yards gained in 10 carries, including a 64-yard sprint for a touchdown and a 54-yard ramble to set up another.

Michigan's loss left the Big Ten half of the Rose Bowl picture clouded. Ohio State took over the league lead with a 20-13 victory over Indiana but the Buckeyes, last year's Rose Bowl winner, are ineligible to return. That leaves Michigan State, which smashed Purdue, 27-0, as Michigan's chief rival.

If State winds up its season with a 5-1 league record by beating Minnesota next Saturday, then Michigan must win both its remaining games—against Indiana and Ohio State—to take the bowl berth with a 6-1 mark. A split would give the bid to State's Spartans.

Oklahoma, which meets Iowa State this week, is headed for a showdown with co-league-leader Nebraska on Nov. 19 that will decide the Big Seven's representative in the Orange Bowl.

Maryland is tied with Clemson in the race for the Atlantic Coast conference berth in the same bowl and the two rivals wind up their league season this coming Saturday in a head-on collision that will decide the matter.

The Texas Aggies held onto their half-game lead in the hot battle for the Southwest Conference's berth in the Cotton Bowl by downing Southern Methodist, 13-2. Closest rivals Texas and Texas Christian meet this week, while the Aggies visit Rice.

Mississippi Holds Lead
Mississippi stayed atop the Southeastern Conference as it beat Memphis State, 39-6, in a non-league game. Ole Miss can clinch the crown by winning its final league game, Nov. 26, against Mississippi State.

Michigan was the only team in the nation's "top 10" to lose this week, although Georgia Tech (No. 7) was held to a 7-7 draw by Tennessee and Navy No. 10 was held to another 7-7 split by Duke.

Other major surprises were Yale's 14-12 victory over Army, Harvard's 7-6 win over Princeton, and Stanford's 28-20 triumph over Southern California.

Browns, Rams Out in Front in Pro Grid Play

By United Press
The Cleveland Browns and Los Angeles Rams are out in front in the National Football league's division races today but the Chicago Bears are ripping through the pro circuit like an enraged grizzly.

Cleveland cashed a dividend on its quarterback "insurance" Sunday by using substitute George Ratterman to whip the New York Giants, 24-14, and take a two-game lead in the Eastern division. Ratterman threw two touchdown passes and ran for another score to wipe out a 14-3 Cleveland deficit after the Giants sent Otto Graham to the sidelines with a concussion.

Los Angeles also trailed at the half, 14-3, but took the undisputed Western division lead by rallying to defeat the San Francisco Forty-Niners, 27-14. Andy Robustelli and Corky Taylor sent 85,302 Los Angeles fans home happy by stealing two of Y. A. Tittle's fourth-period passes and racing for TDs.

Bears Smother Packers
But the Bears produced the campaign's biggest touchdown explosion at Chicago. Looking more each week like the Bears of old, they ran up a 45-3 lead and defeated the Green Bay Packers, 52-31.

The Bears' fourth straight triumph set the stage for the game which may decide the Western division champion — next Sunday's Rams-Bears game at Chicago.

Los Angeles (5-2) now leads the Bears and Baltimore Colts (each 4-3) by one game. The Detroit Lions won their first 1955 game Saturday night, defeating Baltimore, 24-14, when halfback Doak Walker scored twice in the last four minutes.

The Chicago Cardinals (3-3-1) gave Cleveland an assist by defeating the Pittsburgh Steelers in the other Saturday night contest, 27-13. The Washington Redskins converted five of six recovered fumbles into scores to defeat the Philadelphia Eagles (2-4-1) in the other Sunday tilt, 34-21.

Washington and Pittsburgh (each 4-3) are second in the Eastern division. All teams have five more games.

U. S. Ryder Cup Team Defeats England, 8-4

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (U.P.)—England's Ryder Cup team, undismayed by their 8-4 defeat at the hands of America's crack professional brigade, let loose with an old Brooklyn war cry today: "Wait until next year."

In this case, it is wait until 1957, when the next Ryder Cup matches will be played in England.

Beaten for the ninth time in the 11 tests that have been played, the British still look to the future. They haven't won since 1938.

The American team, with as much spirit as a college football squad, did a lot of back-slapping in the locker room after the victory.

"We played a great brand of golf and our boys really deserved to win," said Capt. Chick Harbert, who posted one of the victories himself.

"We have the world's greatest golfers on this squad."

Even the British sharpshooters would have to admit the last statement.

The singles matches went like this Sunday: Tommy Bolt, U. S., defeated Christy O'Connor, Britain, 4-2. Chick Harbert, U. S., defeated Sydney Scott, Britain, 3-2. Doug Ford, U. S., defeated Harry Weetman, Britain, 3-2. Sam Snead, U. S., defeated Dai Rees, Britain, 3-1. John Jacobs, Britain, defeated Cary Middlecoff, U. S., 1 up. Arthur Lees, Britain, defeated Marty Furgol, U. S., 3-1. Jackie Burke, U. S., defeated Harry Bradshaw, Britain, 3-2. Eric Brown, Britain, defeated Jerry Barber, U. S., 3-2.

These all were 36-hole matches and over that distance, the scores prove that they were exceptionally close.

Young (30) Jacobs was the star for the visiting crew with his exciting 1-up victory over Middlecoff.

Norway has been awarded a $127,000 off-shore contract to produce 60 and 81 mm. mortar shells for NATO.

Only two states will deny housewives the right to buy colored margarine—Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Shooting hours on opening day—noon to sunset. Shooting hours rest of season—sunrise to sunset. Daily limit—5; possession after opening day—10.

Raccoon, opossum, skunk—southern zone—Nov. 15 to Jan. 15. No restrictions on shooting hours, bag or possession limits.

Director Glen D. Palmer pointed out that the 1954 dates for the above season were inadvertently printed on the back of the 1955 licenses more than a year ago before the legislature had convened.

"We are asking hunters to ignore the erroneous information on the licenses, and to respect the legal season dates and limits which not only are based upon technical research, but also are more favorable to the hunter in nearly every instance."

SIU Drops 32-13 Homecoming Tilt to Washington U. Bears

CARBONDALE, Ill.—A 175-pound sophomore fullback, Don Polkinghorne, personally carried the Washington University Bears to a 32-13 victory over Southern Illinois university before a record-breaking 9,400 Homecoming fans here Saturday afternoon.

The fans—by far the largest to ever see a Southern home football game—saw Polkinghorne gain 205 yards in 26 carries for a remarkable 7.9 yards per try average. He also scored two touchdowns, one on an 80-yard runback of a kick-off.

Teaming with left half Mel Siegel, who scored Washington's other three touchdowns, the Bears scooted to the win after battling to a 7-0 first quarter advantage.

Jack Schneider, 160-pound right half from Glen Carbon, was Southern's biggest gun as he picked up 88 yards in only 8 carries. He scored one touchdown on a terrific 26-yard jaunt around left end and his runs helped to set up Southern's other score. Many of his gains, like those of Polkinghorne, were sheer power on his part.

Hank Warfield, usually one of Southern's leading gainers, suffered an ankle injury early in the game and saw little action. Gerald Hart, quarterback from West Frankfort, had one of his best passing days as he completed 6 of 16 attempts for a total of 109 yards.

Washington's scores came on short plunges of 2, 3, and 5 yards by Siegel and on Polkinghorne's 20-yard sprint and 80-yard kickoff return late in the fourth quarter.

Schneider's 26-yard run in the second quarter plus a two-yard plunge by reserve fullback Al Rodgers, Albion, in the final period accounted for Southern's T.D.'s. Kicking SIU's extra point was Bill Spratt, Salem, who turned in a great defensive game.

Washington had the edge in statistics, netting 313 yards by rushing and 64 by passing for a total of 377. Southern gained 129 by rushing and 131 by passing for a total of 260 yards. In first downs, Washington led, 16-12.

Wayne Williams averaged 41.3 yards in three kicks to raise his season record to 39.9 for 27 kicks this season — one of the top 10 among the nation's small colleges.

Southern gets back into conference play next week, playing Illinois Normal at Normal. On November 19 SIU will be host to Northern Illinois.

Spectator Makes Record Run at SIU-Washington Game

CARBONDALE, Ill.—The longest run of the Washington university football game here Saturday will never be recorded in statistics. In fact, university officials are still looking for the one who made it.

The unique play came late in the fourth quarter when SIU fullback Bill Spratt, Salem, sent his extra point kick sailing over the goalposts. Catching the ball was an unidentified spectator who tucked the ball under his arm and charged out of the stadium as a record-breaking 9,400 Homecoming fans looked on.

Zhukov Urges Soviet Forces to Keep Prepared

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov called today for "vigilance" and "battle preparedness" in a Communist Revolution anniversary celebration marked by the appearance over Red Square of a "mighty airborne battleship."
Marshal Zhukov reviewed the Soviet armed forces in a great parade on Red Square marking the 38th anniversary of the October Revolution.
A giant jet bomber escorted by swept-wing jet fighters streaked overhead following Zhukov's speech atop the mausoleum of Stalin and Lenin.
Earlier First Vice Premier Lazar Kaganovich, in a speech before Soviet and Communist Party leaders at the Bolshoi theater, declared that the 20th century will see the triumph of Communism throughout the world.
"Under the banner of Marx, Engels, Lenin and Stalin we have triumphed and will continue to triumph to full victory for Communism," Kaganovich said.

Mrs. Earle Searcy GOP Candidate For Court Clerk

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Mrs. Earle Searcy today announced she would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for clerk of the Illinois Supreme Court in the 1956 primary.
She is the widow of the late Earle Benjamin Searcy, Supreme Court clerk at the time of his death, and was appointed to fill his unexpired term.
"In response to many letters and urgings, I have decided to be a candidate," she said.
"I propose if nominated and elected to conduct the office in the same efficient manner that it has been run since 1944 when my husband was elected for the first time."
Mrs. Searcy said the experience since she was appointed plus the "years of familiarity with the various duties," qualify her for the post.
"It is my firm belief that I can conduct this office to the benefit of all the people and to the credit of women in Illinois," she said.

Bandit Robs Bank, Takes Cashier as Hostage

HEBRON, Ind. (AP)—A bandit wearing a pink necktie robbed a bank of nearly $3,000 today and fled in a cashier's automobile with a woman accomplice and the cashier as hostage.
The money was taken from a vault at the Citizens Bank of Hebron by a robber about 25 years old who teamed up with a blonde to hold cashier Robert McKinley, 54, and his wife, Ruth, captive in their home most of the night.
The woman stayed at the McGinley home guarding Mrs. McGinley while the bandit forced McGinley to accompany him to the bank in the cashier's automobile.
After the holdup, the bandit returned to the McGinley home and picked up the woman. They drove away with McGinley in his car.
Less than two hours later, police at a road blockade near Kouts, Ind., exchanged shots with occupants of a car answering the description of the getaway car. But the car escaped.

Col. Walter Williams, who will be 113 years old on Nov. 14, joined his family in a pre-birthday celebration in Houston Sunday. He even had his silvery hair trimmed for the occasion, his daughter, Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles said.

Comedian Jack Benny Wins Million Dollar Tax Fight

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Comedian Jack Benny, who rose to stardom with his characterization as the stingiest man in Hollywood, has won a one million dollar tax fight with the government.
Benny's attorneys announced Sunday that the U. S. Tax Court has ruled in Benny's favor in a dispute with the Internal Revenue Service over the sale in 1948 of Amusement Enterprises Inc. The Columbia Broadcasting System bought the corporation, in which Benny was principal stockholder, for $2,260,000. Benny's radio program were produced by the corporation.
Benny paid a 25 per cent capital gains tax on his share of the sale. The government claimed he should have paid a 75 per cent personal income tax. The difference amounted to one million dollars. Benny appealed the government claim and won.

Jury To Study Kidnap Charges Against Two Men

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP)—A grand jury meets here today to consider kidnapping charges against two white defendants in the Emmett Till case, one of the most widely publicized racial incidents of the decade.
District Attorney Stanny Sanders said he would ask the Leflore county jury to indict Roy Bryant, 24, and his half-brother, J. W. Milam, 36 — acquitted of murder charges — for abducting the 14-year-old Negro boy because he whistled at Bryant's pretty wife.
Sanders said he expects to place the case before the jury, meeting in regular session, today or Tuesday. If the two men are indicted, he said, they probably will stand trial here later this month. The trial could be delayed until spring, if defense lawyers should request it and give good reason for delay.
Body Found in River
World-wide indignation was raised against Bryant and Milam and Mississippi when a body was found in the Tallahatchie river near here three days after Till was abducted from the home of an uncle Aug. 28.
After the acquittal, Bryant and Milam were returned here and released a few days later under $10,000 bonds. Bryant reopened his store in the Money community but a few days ago he advertised it for sale in a Greenwood newspaper.
Milam has been busy hiring out mechanical cotton pickers for harvesting a bumper cotton crop in this rich agricultural area of north Mississippi.
